New Styles—Spring Goods! FOR MEN'S WEAR. E. [illegible] NO. 3 TREMONT BLOCK, IS NOW Receiving a large and well selected stock of Goods, some of which will soon be given to the public.

"I have finished the view which I proposed to take of the Thirty Years' working of the government during the time that I was a part of it. I have written faithfully for it. I have said faithfully concerning whether the effect of it will be to extend or not to extend slavery, as well as the good, that I have seen both in men and measures. The good I have exhibited largely established. I have shown it for the preservation and imitation of posterity; the evil I have steadily exposed, only for correction and for the warning caution.

I have been the capacity of the people for self-government tried in many points, and in ways known to and in the opinion of the world. Two other trials, now going on, remain to be decided to settle the question of that capacity. 1. The election of President; and whether that election is to be governed by the virtue and intelligence of the people, or by the spoil of intrigue and corruption? 2. The sentiment of political nationality; and whether it is to remain co-extensive with the Union, leading to harmony and fraternity; or divide into sectionalism ending in hate, alienation, separation and civil war!

An irresponsible body (chiefly self-constituted and basely nominated by professional office seekers and office-holders) have usurped the election of Presidents; for the nomination is the election so far as the party is concerned; and always making it with a view to their own profit in the monopoly of office and power.

A sectional question now divides the Union arraying one-half against the other, becoming more embittered daily, which has already destroyed the benefits of the Union, and which, unless checked will also destroy its form.

Confederate Republics are short lived—the shortest in the whole history of governments. Two diseases [illegible] Democracy—the election of the chief magistrate, when elective; sectional animosities, when intimate or sectional questions. Our confederacy is now laboring under both diseases; and the body of the people, now [illegible] keeped in contempt and patriotism by design, remain unconscious of the danger—and even become instruments in the hands of their destroyers.

If what is written in these chapters shall contribute to open their eyes to these dangers [illegible] to put their shoulders to the wheel, to remove [illegible] to the enjoyment of their constitutional privileges and the suppression of sectional excitement, then this View will not have been written in vain. If not, the writer will still have one consolation—the knowledge of the fact that he has labored in his day and generation to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of that Union and self-government which wise and good men gave us.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, May 14.

THE UNITED STATES TROOPS IN KANSAS. On motion of M. Barbour (dem.), of Virginia, it was resolved that the President be requested to inform the House whether United States soldiers have been employed in Kansas to arrest persons charged with violations of rep[illegible] laws; and whether any such persons have been so employed at the present session of the House by what authority they were employed.

Mr. Wilson (rep.), of Massachusetts, moved to amend by adding the following:

And whether any persons have been employed by the Executive of Illinois, to march troops from that State into the Territory of Kansas, and if so, by what authority they were employed.

The House passed the bill to enlarge the Post Office, Court, and Custom House buildings in Milwaukie; also the Senate bills appropriating $100,000 to deepen the channel of the St. Mary's River, Michigan, and $330,000 to keep open the channel of the mouth of the Mississippi.

INTERNAL BUSINESS.

On motion of Mr. Grow, one week, commencing on the fourth Monday of June, was set apart for the consideration of Territorial bills.

THE CAPE DE VERDE SCHOONER.

Mr. Wheeler, of New York, asked leave to offer a resolution expressive of sympathy for the Cape de Verde sufferers, and authorizing the donation of a national vessel with such provisions as may be deemed.

Mr. Grow moved to suspend the rules for its introduction, the House adjourned.

THE INDIAN WAR ON THE PACIFIC.

The President sent to the Senate the following document relative to hostilities on the Pacific coast:

Gen. Wool, under date of March 20th, says: The war at Puget's Sound will soon be brought to a close. Such a thing is governed by Gov. Stevens' determination to carry on a war that has some remote affinity to the Fugitive Slave law. Both of these Governors appear to be running a race to see who can slip deepest into the mire.

Gen. Wool says: [illegible] of constituents: In the dense forest of Puget's Sound another Florida war can easily be carried on for millions of twenty or thirty millions of dollars, and men will also apply to the same region as around Puget's Sound, &c. Gen. Wool has no fear but what he could settle the contest, if the Governors should withdraw from it.

Governor Stevens says:—General Wool neglected and refused to send a force for the relief of myself and party when known to be in imminent danger, by which delay the Indians became capable of judging, to be coming on to certain death; and this cause he had at his command a sufficient force of regular troops. He has refused to sanction the agreement made between Governor Mason and Indian Superintendent Simmons, and ordered them to be disbanded. It was reserved for Oregon volunteers to [illegible] the Indians in breach of faith somewhere. I ask for an investigation into the whole matter.

Scene in the Crimea.

A correspondent of the London News writing from the Crimea says:

The Allies were celebrating the birth of the Prince Imperial, and did so in the usual way, by getting up races; running horses between the cavalry were stationed, and running them down. Many bets had evidently been made, and the Russians took the liveliest interest in these rejoicings; illuminated their tents as brilliantly as those of their enemies, and [illegible] as many as were they of seeing the races, which they were unable to take part in, owing to an order from the Czar to the effect that forbidding their troops from crossing the bridges between the two, that they could only look on from a distance. The prince's birthday having been invited to this ingenious dodge by a party of English soldiers, who crossed in the most unconcerned way from camp, and pilloted their new friends there by the water to the scene of rejoicings. A great many Russians officers dressed in full regimentals, and it is to be hoped that Gen. Lenders will have winked at the breach of discipline. Be that as it may, the Russians [illegible] were announced for the evening, in the Allied camps; the poor Russians wanted dreadfully to [illegible] back, but dared not, and after being feasted and fraternized with by those whom they were busy in shooting down a month ago, they returned to their own lines to their own quarters, at sunset.

[illegible] accidents occurring out of the feelings and habits of men. The moment the order for fighting is countermanded, the brave fellows pitted against each other by their Governments, rush into one another's arms, share their rations and [illegible] as they can get up in their camps, and bear no grudge for the havoc of the day before.

The Boy that "Licked" the Prince of Wales.—The Birmingham (Eng.) Journal, prints the following account of a flogging the Prince of Wales received from a poor boy:

During Her Majesty's residence at Osborne cottage, Isle of Wight, her children were accustomed to ramble along the seashore. Now, it so happened that the Prince of Wales and a boy who was employed in the sewing department of the establishment, were about the same age, and had been good friends. The boy had got [illegible] full. The Prince, [illegible] of his high position, thought himself privileged to do what he pleased with impunity. Accordingly one day he [illegible] and struck the boy, who had been very industrious and obliging. The boy [illegible] to the Prince: "I don't do that again, and I'll tell you why. I go to the [illegible] and I'll tell your father." The [illegible] were gathered up and put into the [illegible] Mary [illegible] and [illegible] again, and follow, if you dare." The [illegible] the Prince again pitched into the [illegible] and [illegible] him such a thrashing as few princes ever had.

His lip was cut open, his nose knocked considerably out of its perpendicular, and his eyes of a color which might have well become the chameleon of a prize ring. His disfigurement could not long be concealed from his royal mother. She learned the cause of his disfigurement. The Prince was silent, but at last he confessed the truth. The poor boy was ordered before the Queen. He was asked to tell the story. He did so in a very straightforward manner. At its conclusion, turning to her child, the Queen said, "You have received a severe punishment, but you richly deserved it; and, [illegible] I should have punished you severely. What you owe to this boy is [illegible] [illegible] you will always receive a similar punishment." Turning to the poor boy, the mother of kings pointed to the [illegible] and the result of the interview was that Her Majesty [illegible] [illegible] providing for their son, and she [illegible] would [illegible] good use of the knowledge which [illegible] [illegible] his education.

OUT ON BAIL.—We learn that the conviction Hiram Wattles, indicted for keeping a house of ill fame, on Wednesday evening last, was set aside on Monday morning, and Wattles became his surety. It is stated that she fled the city last night.

THE LOST WIFE.—We yesterday noticed that a gentleman who came to the city last Sat ith wife and two children at the Sherman House, and who had previously learned that other Cooking Stoves than at a small hotel on the west side, and took them to the Milwaukee Depot, where he left the wife and children, and took a small ticket, which he soon after sold for half price. Although Capt. Connell has kept a large number of police officers on the search for them, no trace has been discovered. It is supposed they have gone to Milwaukee.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R. EARNINGS.—The earnings of the road for the months of January, February, March and April, for three years, have been:

January	$ 93,000.00	$ 97,000.00	$ 98,000.00
February	93,000.00	97,000.00	98,000.00
March	93,000.00	97,000.00	98,000.00
April	93,000.00	97,000.00	98,000.00

There are now 437 miles of the road in operation.

The same ratio of increase will give the road a gross increase of $400,000 for 1856, and it may reach $500,000, of which 50 per cent ought to be net profit.

NEW BOOKS.—Messrs. Rees & Lee, 145 Lake st. have placed upon our table the Second Annual Report of the Government of the Boston Board of Mutual Aid, for 1855, 1854, 1853, 1852, "The Prudent Mutual," being a complete guide for executors, administrators and guardians, under the laws of Illinois, with practical forms, by REUBEN M. HASKIN, of Peoria, and Henry Bailey, and "Dent on Mules," a most useful and complete work.

Messrs. Wallace, Austin & Buell, 25 Clark-street sent us back "chock full of fun," entitled "Doc-Bull-Tah, a song that's by no author.

AT A Meeting of Company A., National Guard in this city, January, Chicago, May 14th, 1856, the following proceedings were held:

Whereas, It has pleased an all wise inscrutable Providence to call suddenly from our midst, by death, our late companion in arms, Marcus Bates; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of our late comrade, Marcus Bates, to whose remains the company have this day been called upon to pay the last tribute of respect, our corps has lost an open-hearted generous friend, a true and faithful soldier, the community an upright and valuable citizen.

Resolved, That we tender this our tribute of sincere sympathy to the afflicted family of the deceased in their sudden bereavement.

Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings be sent to the family of the deceased, and that they be published in the daily papers of the city.

LEROY G. S. WARNEY, Chairman.

THE TRAINED ELEPHANTS.—The wonderful creatures, of which so much has been said and written, will shortly exhibit in this city, in connection with Gossi's, Nathan's & Co's Circus. The following from the St. Louis Daily Enquirer will give some idea of their powers:

"As a general rule, the feats or phenomena of this description are but greatly exaggerated, and cause very unsatisfactory results, but in the performances of these animals what they are represented to do surpasses what the public had been led to expect. They perform all the feats of horsemanship, such as riding, walking, dancing, walking upon their front and hind legs, &c., &c., but the greatest exhibit of skill was a terrific gallop around the ring over a narrow plank only eight inches wide, in the most graceful manner. There is not an artist of any merit in our midst but what is constantly employed, and at prices that would make the wealthy men of Buffalo stare. Our citizens are proverbial for their liberality, as we have an abundance of evidence all around us to attest. Look at our "Widow's Home," our magnificent Orphan Asylums, our unexcelled Free High School, all our public buildings, then think of our age as a city, and compare those things with Buffalo, and any one man will admit "that there was more of truth than poetry in our former article. The wealthy men of Buffalo are not liberal, except in very large instances, and visitors are among them with a foreign stamp they will not patronize it. They will go to New York and pay for much, very much inferior articles, quadruple what they would be willing to pay for the production of their home talent; and even their home artists have to go to them before mind they have passed the ordeal of a New York or Boston review, and are pronounced upon favorably, for them, and not until then do they get a word of encouragement in the home of their childhood. We speak of that we know, and we should give the names of many men of genius, that have been, and even now are, in the midst of Buffalo, but it is not necessary. Even the writer of the article in the Express, can himself—if he would—attest to the truth of what we say. No gentleman can do justice to the merits of this company without seeing them perform, so, visit your town, "but we find no fault with you in your patronage, it is your right to visit or not to visit your town. It is but a few days since we had a most excellent exhibition of our citizens, consisting our families for the sake of making a show of their taste and business during the evening of the Mechanics' Fair, and we candidly believe that the company of the elephants, &c., &c.,) had been in our city, we have good reason to say Chicago, when she sent from us, by-reason of its superior taste and display of energy, position and business, over forty thousand souls; your most active patrons then. Everywhere about us do we see persons who have been old residents of Buffalo, and all in the full tide of success. They daily do we hear of acquisitions from that same quarter, and that enterprising gardener, Mr. G. BARLES, has but just left us for Buffalo to clean up his business, having sold his greenhouses for double what they must have been here, and he, as well as the rest, say, that they leave Buffalo with regret, but, that they can no longer make a living there.

It is not our fault if people will come here, we are glad of it, and welcome them all, and we have yet to learn that any one of them have ever regretted it, but when a person can't make a living in a place, the chances for success would seem against him."

SUPPOSED THEFT.—John Thomas was tried yesterday morning for burglariously entering the dwelling house of Hiley J. Caldwell, 71 Wells street and stealing therefrom $10 in money, cottons, surtitout, Hostetter's Bitters, and divers other articles. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.

It appeared that the prisoner entered the place in the evening with two others, and under the excuse of eating and drinking obtained admittance to the premises. During the same night the prisoner returned by way of a back window, and carried off the property. The jury found him guilty, and Reed his term of imprisonment at six years. Mead and Thompson for the people, Asay and Von Boden for prisoner.

ELIZA BARNHART, indicted for keeping a house of ill-fame, was put upon trial. It was alledged that it was all her house that Mason attempted to rape the young girl for which he was convicted in this Court on Wednesday last. After a number of challenges for cause a jury was empannelled—John A. Thompson, Esq., for the people, S. G. Cunningham, Esq., for prisoner. Elizabeth Dotts testified that she was at prisoner's house on Wednesday night, that Mason took her there, and that prisoner showed her to a room and left her there with Mason. That prisoner came to her room in the morning and offered her some breakfast; that prisoner told her when she went away not to tell anybody where she was.

Mr. Sells, Town of Hinsdale, stated that he went to prisoner's house to find his daughter, that Mason told him she was there, and that prisoner said she had not been there. Officer Frederick testified to the facts as detailed by Mr. Dotts.

Redman and Hays, two of this woman's boarders, were called, and testified that, so far as they knew, the house was a respectable boarding house. Two witnesses were called to testify to the character of the house, but their testimony was so contradictory, that it left the matter as it found it. The jury, after an absence of a few minutes, rendered a verdict of not guilty.

CRIME, LET IT GO.—Prof. W. C. WEBSTER, long connected with the public schools of Buffalo as a teacher of vocal music, has recently come among us, and intends making Chicago his future place of residence. He has had large experience in his favorite profession, and has earned a high reputation as a successful teacher. We give Mr. W. a hearty welcome among us, and hope he may find encouragement in the vocal art that they will find him eminently qualified for imparting the knowledge desired.

Mr. W. invites the children and youth, with their parents, to meet him at Metropolitan Hall, on next Saturday, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of organizing classes in vocal music, and making all necessary arrangements.

A PRESENT IS SAFE.—What lady or gentleman would remain such? the cause of a disagreeable breath when, by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a toilet luxury, would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? A beautiful Complexion may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples, and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and delicate texture. Sold by all druggists.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.—Mrs. Thomas Wise was awakened early one morning by burglars quietly entering the sitting house of Hiley J. Caldwell, 71 Wells street and stealing therefrom $10 in money, cottons, surtitout, Hostetter's Bitters, and divers other articles. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.
